Afterpay's Corporate Governance Framework

The diagram below shows Afterpay's Corporate Governance Framework, which is designed to promote and foster accountability.

Afterpay's values

The Afterpay model is based on trust.

The Board recognises that good corporate governance is essential to preserving trust and creating long-term shareholder value, and is supported by Afterpay's values. These values are expected to inform our decisions, from the top down, and they underpin our corporate culture.

Keep it Real

We are genuine and have no time for BS.

We feel able and proud to bring our authentic self to work everyday.

We are clear and sincere in our words and back them up with action.

Be Brave

We back intuition and celebrate curiosity. That's how we innovate.

We approach our work with courage, tenacity and a healthy dose of grit.

We finish what we start and commit as one team.

A woman with long brown hair and glasses, wearing a white button-down shirt, sits at a desk with a silver laptop. A young boy with short brown hair, wearing a white shirt, sits on her shoulders with his hands on her head. In the background, a framed picture of a green field with people is on the wall, and a vase of white flowers is on the desk.

Do the Right Thing

We look for the win/win on behalf of every stakeholder.

We hold ourselves accountable for our actions.

We act with honesty, humility and transparency.

Shape the Future

We are perpetually excited about the opportunities ahead of us.

We make thoughtful decisions quickly and execute them with intensity and quality.

The role of the Board

The Board has adopted a Board Charter that sets out the role of the Board and its relationship with management. Some key elements of the Board's roles and responsibilities are described in the diagram below.

Director nomination and succession

The People, Remuneration & Nomination Committee is responsible under its Charter for reviewing Board succession plans, with an aim of maintaining an appropriate mix of skills, expertise, knowledge, experience, independence and diversity on the Board.

The Committee also oversees the process for recruiting new directors by developing policy and procedures for the selection and appointment of new directors and assisting the Board to identify qualified individuals for nomination to the Board.

Appropriate background checks of a potential candidate are performed before the candidate is appointed by the Board or recommended to shareholders for election. This includes checks of the person's character, experience, education, criminal record and bankruptcy history. Where appropriate, external consultants may be engaged to assist in searching for candidates and undertaking relevant checks.

Prior to directors seeking election or re-election at an Annual General Meeting (AGM) of the Company, Afterpay provides shareholders with all material information known to the Board and relevant to a decision on whether or not to elect or re-elect that director in the notice of AGM.

All directors have entered into written agreements with the Company, which set out their duties and responsibilities.

Director independence

The Board is currently comprised of a majority of independent non-executive directors, including an independent non-executive Chair.

The Company transitioned to a Board with a majority of independent directors from 9 October 2019. Prior to David Hancock's resignation as a director on 8 October 2019, the Board consisted of six directors, of whom three were independent (being Dana Stalder, Clifford Rosenberg and Elana Rubin). Despite not having a majority of independent directors for a small part of FY2020, the Board considered that its composition was appropriate in the context of the Company at that time and in light of the skills and experience that the founding shareholders brought to the Board.

Under Afterpay's Board Charter, a director will be considered independent if they are free of any interest, position or relationship that might influence, or might reasonably be perceived to influence, in a material respect, his or her capacity to bring independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interests of the Group as a whole rather than in the interests of any individual shareholder or other party.

The Board regularly reviews the independence of each director, having regard to the independence guidelines in the Board Charter and the definition of independence set out in the ASX Principles and Recommendations.

The Board has determined that all non-executive directors are independent. Anthony Eisen, Nick Molnar and David Hancock (prior to his resignation as a director) are/were not independent on the basis that they hold/held executive roles within the Company.

Directors are required to advise the Board of any interest they have that has the potential to conflict with the interests of the Group, including any development that may impact their perceived or actual independence.

Board skills matrix

The Board recognises the importance of having directors who possess a broad range of skills, knowledge, experience and diversity in order to facilitate constructive discussion and efficient decision-making, and guide good governance across the business.

The Board skills matrix is reviewed annually by the Board, with a view to it capturing the skills needed to address existing and emerging business and governance issues relevant to the Group, and takes into account any changes in the Group's circumstances and strategic priorities.

The current mix of skills and experience represented on the Board as at the date of this Corporate Governance Statement is set out in the skills matrix below.

New directors also meet with key members of senior management to gain a more detailed understanding of the Group's services and capabilities.

The Board receives ongoing governance updates and briefings throughout the year. Directors are encouraged to, and do, attend ongoing professional development and training programs to enable them to develop and maintain their skills and knowledge. The Board, including through the People, Remuneration & Nomination Committee, periodically reviews whether directors have the requisite skills, knowledge and familiarity with the Group and its operating environment in order to fulfil their role on the Board. A training program is prepared to support any required development.

Independent professional advice

The Board Charter states that directors may, with the consent of the Board or Chair (or in the case of a request by the Chair, the consent of the Chair of the Audit, Risk & Compliance Committee) obtain independent professional advice, at the Company's expense, as considered necessary to assist in fulfilling their duties and responsibilities.

Performance reviews and evaluation

The directors undertake an annual process to review the performance and effectiveness of the Board, Committees and individual directors.

The Chair is responsible for the annual review and the Company Secretary oversees and facilitates the process. As part of the review, each director completes a questionnaire relating to the Board's role, composition, procedures, practices and behaviour. The questionnaires are confidential. The Chair leads a discussion of the questionnaire results with the Board as a whole and provides feedback to individual directors as necessary.

A performance evaluation in accordance with the process set out above was undertaken in respect of the Reporting Period.

3. Board committees

The Board has established two standing committees, the People, Remuneration & Nomination Committee and the Audit, Risk & Compliance Committee, and has delegated to each committee duties to assist the Board in exercising its responsibilities and discharging its duties.

Each committee has a separate charter that sets out the roles and responsibilities of that committee, as well as the membership and any other requirements for the operation of the committee. The committees are chaired by and comprise independent non-executive directors. Prior to 1 June 2020, the People, Remuneration & Nomination Committee consisted of two independent non-executive directors. While the composition of the Committee was not consistent with Recommendations 2.1 and 8.1 of the ASX Principles and Recommendations, the Board considered it appropriate in light of the overall composition of the Board. However, following Board changes during the year and the growth and expansion of the Company, the composition of the Committee was changed so that it is now consistent with the ASX Principles and Recommendations.

Each committee regularly reports to the Board on all matters relevant to the committee's roles and responsibilities.

The members and role of each standing committee are set out in the diagram on the next page.
